Sub : JTO LICE exam and one time regularisation of officiating JTOs-Reg.

Ref:- BSNL CO No.5-11/2009-Pers-IV dated Nov'20th,2012-11-22

Sir,

In the above cited reference & subject matter, it is being to your kind notice that JTO LICE has been notified as per instruction given by High Court of Chandigarh. The Chandigarh High Court did not set any time frame for this. Also the contempt case is not yet closed, but posted for hearing on another date. BSNL should have not accepted conducting LICE exam as a condition for closure of contempt since it is not the reason for the contempt of court.

However, BSNL is in a hurry to conduct the examination somehow. As you are aware, the JTO LICE is conducted before settling the officiating JTOs' issue, it will harm the officiating JTOs and will go against the assurance given to us by BSNL on various occasions. In this context we have provided all the relevant facts to your goodself. But, so far no action proposed by us against erring officers in the corporate office as well as Haryana Circle, has been initiated who torpedoed the decision of BSNL Board. Also Management did not proceed against the petitioners in the case at Chandigarh who filed false affidavits colluding with BSNL officers.

Now at this stage, we demand to regularise all officiating JTOs before conducting the JTO LICE. This examination has been notified, it should contain information that officiating JTOs are exempted from writing this examination in view of their regularisation. These JTOs are working as officiating JTOs for the last 6-7 years after passing the JTO screening examination in the year -1999 in DoT and also completed JTO Phase-I training. Now, if these JTOs are not regularized they will report to newly promoted JTOs qualified through LICE to whom they are controlling presently.

We would, therefore, request you to kindly intervene in the matter, so that the regularisation of officiating JTOs as one time measure is completed at the earliest

With kind regards,

Yours Sincerely,

-sd-
